CASE STUDY

ROBOTIC Process AUTOMATION

Sincerely facilitating clients from around the globe with our premium enterprise IT services and solutions.

TWITTER-BOT

About the Client
MTFX is a company that has revolutionized the way people exchange currency and send international payments. Their team of experts provide knowledgeable insights into foreign exchange markets and strive to ensure all transactions are secure, convenient, and cost-effective.

Challenges
Our client experienced a significant hurdle in allocating Twitter credentials to multiple employees, as managing this process manually was both tedious and time-consuming. To solve this problem we developed a Twitter bot which automated the process and gave the client the flexibility and peace of mind he needed. Additionally, in line with the client's wishes, we also produced an online dashboard that displayed live currency updates so that our client could keep track of their finances easily. With these tools at his disposal our client was able to manage the daily operations of their business quickly and more efficiently.

Solution
Our client's wish was our command and we swiftly stepped up to the task of creating an automated twitter bot to disseminate their currency updates and newsletters. We carefully incorporated all their desired features into the bot such as frequency of posts, post time, etc.

Results
A perfectly functioning twitter bot that autonomously delivered the client's content with impressive accuracy and efficiency! This allowed our client to not only manage their account more effectively, but also free up their valuable time and resources so they could focus on other important aspects of their business.
